

Developing Questions for Vacancy Announcements:

This training is designed to guide Hiring Managers and Administrative Personnel involved in the hiring process with developing meaningful assessment questions for vacancy announcements. Developing targeted questions is one of the most critical steps in assessing candidates. This session will include understanding how the questions are used in determining qualifications and scores along with workshop examples.